

The image shows the front entrance of a house. The central feature is a wooden door with a white frame, featuring six small, patterned glass panes in a 2x3 grid. Above the door is a hanging lantern light. The door is flanked by two white columns supporting a white overhang. On either side of the door is a window with a white frame, and a potted plant sits on a ledge below each window. The house has grey siding and a white trim. In the foreground, there are two large, well-manicured green bushes. The text 'WEST SEATTLE' is overlaid on the left side of the image.

WEST SEATTLE

community

The gorgeous views from West Seattle of the Seattle skyline, Puget Sound, along with the Cascade and Olympic mountains, have contributed to residents' love for the area and make this a favorite Puget Sound destination.

Alki Beach is a large strip of sandy beach bordered by a flat bike and pedestrian trail path—people who use this trail are treated to the most amazing views of the Seattle skyline, Puget Sound, and Olympic mountains.

The Junction, considered the heart of downtown West Seattle, is the site of the year-round West Seattle Farmers Market. Its where West Seattleites connect.

alki beach park

Picture a perfect summer day, and chances are your thoughts will take you to Alki Beach Park, a long beach strip that runs from Alki Point to Duwamish Head on Elliott Bay.

It's a great spot for walk any time of year—and in the summer it draws joggers, roller bladers, volleyball players, beachcombers, sunbathers, bicyclists and strollers out to enjoy the sun. The wide path is inviting and there's plenty of parking along Alki Avenue SW. There are picnic tables, a bathhouse housing an art studio, and a restroom at the south (Alki Point) end of the beach.

The north end of the beach is protected by a bulkhead, and flanked by cottages. The whole beach offers spectacular views of Puget Sound, the Olympic Mountains, and the flotilla of ferries, sailboats, steamships and other craft that ply Puget Sound waters

activities

West Seattle Summer Fest is host to dozens of bands, hundreds of merchants and artists, and over 30,000 attendees. Complete with a food court, beer gardens and family activities, this is a true community celebration in the heart of West Seattle.

For three days, merchants open up their doors and spill out onto their sidewalks to display all the wonderful products and services they offer year-round, while artists and artisans display in the streets.

West Seattle Farmer's Market is one of Seattle's few year-round markets, giving residents access to local foods, treats, flowers, produce and more all year long! They are open from 10am to 2pm every Sunday, rain, pouring down rain or sunshine! They have special events every Sunday.

parks & recreation

Our natural climate allows for year-round outdoor recreation, while our proximity to the Olympic and Cascade Mountain Ranges and the waters of the Puget Sound and Pacific Ocean offers a plethora of opportunity for walking, hiking, running, mountain biking, rock climbing, skiing, snowboarding, water sports, boating, and anything else you can dream of.

As such, our local parks are redesigned for a variety of recreation, and combine our natural landscape with local fascination. The Burke-Gilman Trail runs 27-miles through Seattle, Lake Shore, and the Eastern Railway corridor.

Additionally, the Washington Park Arboretum and Seattle Japanese Gardens are a beautiful addition to the Union Bay border. Fostered by the University of Washington's botany department, the gardens consist of spectacular plants, intersecting form with natural beauty.

Seattle's rapid growth is fostering walkability within the city. Many neighborhoods have their own mini-downtown regions only a few short blocks from home.

The King County Metro, Sound Transit, and South Transit's light rail system run through the center, as well as neighborhood-specific systems, such as the South Lake Union rail, the famous monorail connecting downtown and Seattle center, and an integrated ferry system.

Interstate-5 runs North-South through Seattle, while Interstate-90 and State Route 520 intersect in Central District and Eastlake neighborhoods, respectfully.
